

Nick Cope

The very silly dog

There was once a dog, a very silly dog.

And do you know
what the very silly
dog did?

He found a bar of soap...

SOAP

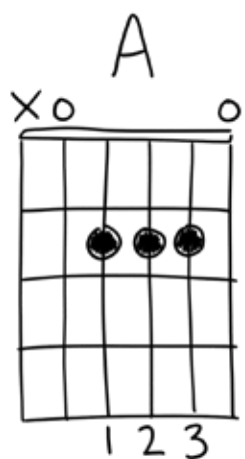

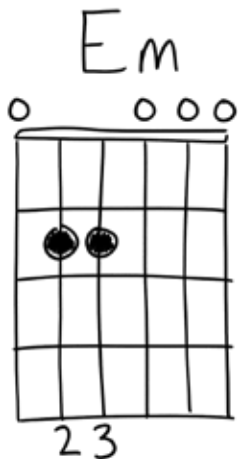

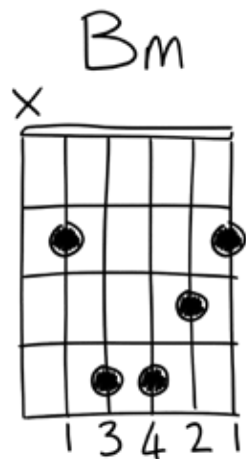

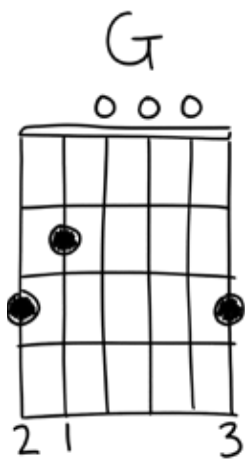

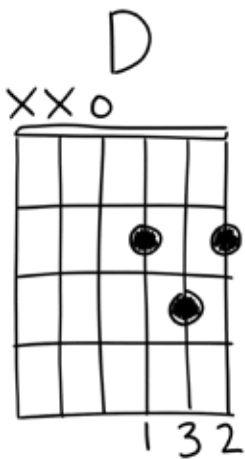

...and he thought it
was a bone.

Can you guess what
the very silly dog
did?

Guitar Chords

Over the next few pages you can see where the chords appear in the song, so you can play and sing along.

Verse 1

D G D

There once was a dog, a very silly dog,

D Bm Em A

And do you know what the very silly dog did?

D G D

He found a bar of soap and he thought it was a bone.

D Bm A D

Can you guess what the very silly dog did?

D A G D Em A D

Well, he gave the soap a little sniff... sniff, sniff, sniff...

D A G D Em A D

And he gave the soap a little lick... lick lick lick...

D A G D A Bm

And he bit off a little bit and started to chew,

G D Em A D

And he thought it tasted funny... well, wouldn't you?

The very silly dog

Singer-songwriter Nick Cope's work takes on a new form in this series of illustrated books. The very silly dog doesn't know a bone from a bar of soap. What will happen when he finds some soap...and eats it?

Also in the series:

- No I don't wanna do that!
- Why is the sky blue?
